The year's enrollment was 915 boys and 647 girls; a total of 1,562 students, of whom 1,000 were from 100 different foreign countries, no colonies of foreign countries.

Before going to Parkersburg, Miss Haley visited Maine, New York and Philadelphia, where she showed the people of the east that Missouri knew how to make good—for that she simply showed them the best of the state. Her visit was demonstrated by the enthusiastic and rousing welcome that was given to her at every point visited, and she was everywhere a success.

Miss Haley sustained her reputation as one of the leading women of the race and

Through the courtesy of Mrs. Nathaniel Bennett, president of state colleges of Pennsylvania, Mrs. Haley received the principal address on Wednesday, June 10, at the annual convention of the New Union Industrial Union of Philadelphia, of which Dr. W. H. Parks is the able pastor. Mrs. Haley was introduced by the Rev. Dr. Parks, assisted by Richard R. Harrison, of Chester, Pa., where, later, and Miss Bennett have charge and are doing a splendid work.

Aside from being head of the Eastern Area, Mrs. Haley is secretary of the National Association of Colored Women, and is also providing for the Grand Chapter No. 1, of the W. C. T. U. Kansas City, will depart for the east to attend the Biennial session of the

Sex the Key to the Bible

The World's Three Greatest Books

By Sidney C. Tapp, Ph.D.

"The Truth About the Bible," about five hundred pages, $1.50. "Why Jesus Was a Man and Not a Woman," three hundred pages, $2.00. "Sexology of the Bible," over one hundred and seventy-five pages, $2.00. All cloth-bound. These books treat of the sex of the Bible, and show that the Bible is a book of sex and a book of truth. LAST IN PEACE, FIRST IN WAR

Just as we go to press we hear rumors of dissatisfaction with the arrangement of the Colored division of the preparatory parade for Sunday afternoon. Last, as usual, last in peace, first in war. It seems ill befitting to the times that, while the Colored soldiers are being called upon to go to the front in Mexico and lead the hunt for Villa, Colored citizens should be simultaneously relegated to the rear in a demonstration intended to express the sentiment of the people in a demand for better protection of our flag and better preparedness. Public opinion seems all out of joint. Prejudice, not patriotism, is dominant. Loyalty is only a sham where a people are divided against themselves, where race bitterness, separating the nationalities, affords not a union. We are all Americans and as Americans and Americans only we can assure the safety of the United States.

THE HYPHEN

The hyphen is playing a conspicuous part in the molding of public sentiment at present. This little character, used to unite nationalities or graft ancestry to Americans, has raised the question of loyalty. The Negro has always been hyphenated. He has been called Afro-American. It is the prevailing usage in designating the American colored man. Yet his hyphen has never been questioned.

The Negro's ancestry extends back 300 years in this country, and he belongs to the oldest generations that enter into the citizenship of our republic. Although Jim-Crowed and segregated in many places no one has ever had the audacity to accuse him of treason or disloyalty. He has always been the first to rise in defense of his country and the last to leave the battlefield.

Col. Roosevelt and "The Post Dispatch" are not mincing words, nor are they pussy footing.

THE TWO RIO CONVENTIONS

The two big quadrennial conventions, Republican and Democratic, are about to convene, select their preference for president and vice-president and offer platforms built of planks of national sentiments to be subjected to the people in November for their approval.

Will some delegate have the courage to make an effort to have inserted an anti-lynching plank? Will some statesman be the instigator of this move to rid the country of its most heinous and barbaric crime, to remove forever its stain from our civilization? Make lynching a federal offense.

THE CITY PLAYGROUNDS

Are the parents, the teachers, the clergy, the professional men, the business men, the laymen of the Negro race in this city satisfied with the conditions that exist at the playgrounds? The only two playgrounds located in the communities where most of the attendance is the Colored youth of the city are the last to open and the poorest kept. This looks like a small matter perhaps in the eyes of some, but it is a vital question to every Negro in the city. It seems to be the highest ambition of each city official to have it said of him when he goes out of office that he did the least for the Negro.

You should protest against this discrimination in the using of the public funds. You should know who is responsible for this condition. Are you disposed to sit quietly by and allow your rights taken from you without a protest? No! No! No! Never!

AMERICA'S UNREST

There is much being said by public men and the press about races, stirring up race feelings and racial issues in connection with the hyphen-American. Each attempt on the part of one race to tell the other the best thing to do for the preservation of peace only serves to widen the breach, and arouse more racial antagonism among themselves. No one class has any confidence in the other, and thus a great unrest among the people is manifested more and more each day—the social unrest, the industrial unrest, the commercial unrest and the political unrest—all of which are stepping stones to a great upheaval among the people of this country. There can be no rest until the nation learns to respect her most humble citizens; there can be no preparedness as long as racial questions and racial antagonism are constantly agitated. There can be no peace until we have peace among ourselves.

If Roosevelt is nominated on the Grand Old Party ticket at Chicago, the wishes of the masses will be carried out.

REVEAL TREND OF CURRENTS

Trevel of Bottom Dropped into the Ocean Current Information to the Navy Departments.

The hydrographic bureau of the navy is at present engaged in endeavoring to ascertain, by means of bottle messages, information as to the movements of the oceans. These messages are papers that have been dropped overboard from vessels in many places, to drift at the mercy of the winds and waves. Many of them have been found and picked up either in the open sea or on shores where they have been stranded.

Knowing from their records where bottles had been thrown overboard, the bureau has been able to trace, in a general way, the path they must have followed in order to reach the places where they were found. In one report alone there were published the adventures of over one hundred bottles.

Being partially filled with air and then securely corked, the bottles float on the surface of the water and go wherever the wind and the current of the sea carry them. Each bottle contains a record of the place and the date of its starting. Some of those found have floated for many months, and sometimes years, and have traveled thousands of miles.

It has been found that bottles dropped overboard between the shores of the United States and England and France usually travel toward the northeast, following the course of that great river in the Atlantic ocean, the Gulf stream. Bottles started off the coast of Europe and Africa travel, as a rule, westward until they arrive among the West India Islands. Between the European side of the ocean the bottle takes a southerly course, and along the American side a northerly course.

WORLD OWES DEBT TO THESE

Macadam, Pioneer of Road Roads, and His Contemporary, Telford, Worthy of All Gratitude.

The first great improvement in highway construction with modern times was effected by John Loudon Macadam, who was born in Ayr, Scotland, in 1756. This great Scotch engineer was the inventor of the road-making system known as "macadamizing," which is still in general use, though vastly improved. Macadam died in 1836, at the age of eighty.

When he died, his tombstone in the churchyard of St. Andrew's, London, was so low that it was necessary to erect a monument to his memory. Macadam was a man of great energy and a brilliant scientific mind. He was a pioneer in the use of the steam engine in the construction of roads, and he was the first to use the steam engine in the construction of roads. He was a man of great energy and a brilliant scientific mind. He was a pioneer in the use of the steam engine in the construction of roads, and he was the first to use the steam engine in the construction of roads.

Forming Habit.

We believe in the greatest freedom for the youth, we believe in a happy environment that will create noble characters; we believe the spirit of the boy should be held sacred and that the achievement of the achievement of higher things in life than social gossip and amusement, and we believe that the accomplishment of good play is as an adjunct of the public schools. It makes no difference how many boards of education, committees, public meetings, may favor it, it is a mistake. The idea that we must resort to games to hold the boys to their school work carries with it the implication that our school methods are wrong, and there can be no justification of pool playing in schools more than that of the school. It should be as free as the air on the street. It should be never be contracted to a halfhearted concession in the materialistic age—Columbus (C.) Journal.

FORCE IN THE COMMUNITY

Man With the "Talent for Silence"

Generally Recognized for Strong Personality He Is.

There is a "gift of gab" and there is a "talent for silence." Everybody classifies somebody as one of these. Those who say anything because they have nothing to say; those who have nothing to say, but say it, those who have something to say and say it, and these who say nothing in spite of having something to say. The last named are rare and are to be found in Boston Globe. It behooves those who have the "gift of gab" to strive for the talent for silence, and those who have the "talent for silence" to try to acquire some "gift of gab."

But better a thousand gabbers than the silence of one cold, cunning man who encourages ardent and generous people to do all the talking in order that he may conceal his cards while they show theirs. That silence is common among men whose authority and wealth have made a craft.

Character speaks a language of its own. The silent man does not need to speak in order to make himself heard. We are told that a certain man and a certain woman without complaining; who can take a great mouth and saw wood—he is such a force in the community as he is the dream of being. It is not anything that he does; it is what he is.

NOTHING LOST BY COURTESY

May at Times Be a Small Thing. But It Has the Power of Accomplishing Much.

Courtesy is the oil upon troubled wheels. There is an inextinguishable amount of friction in the machinery of our lives which reduces this friction to a minimum. The happy outcome of a day's work may be lost by the friction of a chafing word. "Good morning" at its beginning, and a knitted brow and a grudging greeting may be harbingers of failure in the end.

In the elevator, at the telephone, at the bench and in the office—at every point of contact between man and man—there is a friction of the feelings of others is a pleasant lubricant in the joints of life. It reduces the jar of the human machinery, promotes good feeling, adds to the world's stock of affable.

It is better to request than to command, better to mumble than to frown. Better to help than to hinder even the smallest thing. A courteous man and a courteous woman furnish the salt that makes life palatable to the soul.

Our common allotment of happiness, of contentment, of the joy of living is all too small. By rubbing those about us with the salt of courtesy, we can make our lives a long run. Let us share instead of detract from it. Let us respect scrupulously the small rights of others; and for the big rights will then become a matter of habit.

The Oldest of Trees.

As to the age of trees, it is not the oak which is the "patriarch," the oldest tree on earth are the tremendous oaks standing in one of the California valleys. Older than Abraham, they have rolled around with the world, alive, for many more centuries than any more oaks and none long ago of them fell. They are the oldest of trees, and they are the oldest of trees.

That is what surprises the tourist,—that having lived through human history they are still standing. They are so old, that if they were to die, they would be the oldest of trees, and they are the oldest of trees.

Shakespeare's Mixed "Population." It is impossible to overstate the influence on the view of government and the view of life of Shakespeare's "population." Shakespeare's population is as mixed as our own. He had the American manner, with a myriad-minded past, and the more varied and variable present. He had the American spirit, the "Dr. Frank W. Gussman, in National Magazine.

Practice Loving.

Practise loving everyone you meet, being ready with a kind word or a gentle act. Try it for seven days, and measure the joy of your heart. Love and you will never be willing to give up the habit altogether. It does not mean that you should love everyone, but that you should love everyone as you love yourself. The human heart is to be won without the dust and heat of battle. But what are penitence, faith, hope and love? Love is the master. Louise Collier Willson.

FOUR STAR ACTS AT THE BOOKER WASHINGTON THEATRE, THIS WEEK

Madam Fairfax and her son, Harry Stifford, are easily the feature of this week. In one of the best shows seen at the Booker Washington Theater in many months. These two are the same of class, their talent for surpassing the ordinary vaudeville performer. In fact Madam Fairfax ranks as a vocalist with the greatest Colored prima donna hitherto produced. Her song numbers this week she adds a great bit of real comedy that gives her and lightness to her selections, but does not detract from the real artistic class of her work. The result is a treat for the patrons that is rare in indeed. Her range is wonderful. It is especially conspicuous in her rendition of "If I Were a King" in three voices.
Harry Stifford is a graceful comedian and good dancer. The team is making a decided hit. Every number is heartily applauded and they are continued to answer several ovations.

Harper Pugsley opens the show
with an exhibition of comic cartoon work that is good. It follows with an artistic acrobatic dance that is in a class by itself and goes big. Pugsley is a St. Louis boy.

Jack Morley and Company in a whip act, is a decided novelty. After doing some high jumping and other acrobatic stunts with his knees, Morley makes a series of crack jokes which in long whips that are marvelous. It is the only act of the kind on the stage.
Comedy and Gypsy present a line of comedy, music and dance that is up-to-date and very entertaining. They are real footlight artists and are accomplished. The act closes strong with a lively dance.

RUBE FOSTER AND HIS AMERICAN GIANTS COMING

Mount Olive Team Plays Sunday

"The Giants will meet the famous
Mount Olive Team at Brock's Park Sunday. This is the club that beat the Giants last summer. The game promises to be one of the most interesting of the season. Saturday the Jefferson Barracks will meet the Giants at the ballpark.

On Monday Rube Foster and his American Giants will open a five game series here. There is always a strong rivalry between the St. Louis and Chicago clubs and a hard fought series is always the result. All games will start at 3:15.

The Giants won two games in Bellevue Decoration Day, 5 to 2 and 11 to 10. Gregory was on the mound in the first game and was good all through.
Waite was knocked out of the box in the second game and was replaced by Jimmie Lyons. The Giants had a hard fight to win, as the Bellevue boys had six runs before Wallace and Company began to score. Blackwell and Warfield, the new members of the team, were the stars of the game. Mills has signed Robert Kelly, a new pitcher
from Oklahoma City.

It was a big Kelly crowd that saw the opening game of Brock's Park Saturday. The K. of P. band enhanced the gathering and the game was proceeded by a big parade.

Owner Rube Foster, deserves the full patronage of the fans, for he made a big sacrifice for the sake of the sport among colored people. He states that he was not ousted from the International League, but withdrew because the league refused to play the first game in double headers on Sunday.
